CROP PROSPECTS IN GEORGIA, FLORI-DA, ALABAMA AND LOUISIANA. THE WEATHER.

Georgia.—The Columbus Sun of the 10th says: An abundance of rain fell at intervals Sunday and vesterday. More is promised, yet the general hope is the promise may not be fulfilled. A gentleman very graphically described his cotton yesterday as having rust all over it, the boll worm on top, the rot at the bottom, and all three about to meet.

The Milledgeville Recorder of the 10th says: For The Milledgeville Recorder of the 10th says: For the past two weeks we have had rain every day or two. It has been especially injurious to cotton, by giving it a too rank growth without producing corresponding fruit, and causing it to shed off; also, staming and beating out that that was open. Some planters complain of rust, which eppeared as early as the 20th July, and say that their cotton is now mostly open, having done its best. We see some in our neighborhood that was highly mr unred that has just turned yellow and shed its leaves. We take this occasion to repeat that some years since we saw an experiment made by Mr. David Dickson, which domonstrated to us that salt, in a moderate proportion, applied with manure, was a moderate proportion, applied with manuro, was a sure preventive to rust. Let planters remember this another year.

The corn crop is ordinarily good, but fodder has peen injured by excessive rains. There is likely, nowever, to be an abundance of hay.

The Bainbridge Argus of the 8th says The Bainbridge Argus of the 8th says:

THE CROPS.—The late rains have very materially damaged the crops in this section. An intelligent gentleman remarked in our presence, a few days ago, that the cotton crop would fall short by fifty per cent. of the yield the prospects indicated forty days ago, in consequence of the immense quantity of rain which has fallen within that time. —his is really distressing the property of the proposed will find or rain which has fallen within that time. destined to disappointment.

A correspondent writing to the Macon Telegraph from Southwestern Georgia, says:

Vienna, Doolt County, September 7, 1867.—
Having recently returned from a trip through the counties of Southwestern Georgia, I suppose an account of the crops, etc., might be of interest to the readers of your valuable paper. I will, therefore, write as follows:

The corn crop is as good as the land will make, except an occasional field or farm which was not properly cultivated, the result of which is a failure in a greater or less degree. The wheat and out crop, to the breadth of land sown, was almost unprecedented in Southwestern Georgia. The peacrop bids fair to be good. The continued rams since about the first of July (and the prospect is for it still to continue) in connection with the caterpillar, rust, rot, and, in some instances, the boll worm, have cut off at least from one-third to a one-halffthe cotton crop in the section of country above alluded to. The weed is unusually large, occasioned from the remy weather, which is causing the bolls to rot very much indeed. It has shed a large amount of the fruit, and I have seen whole fields with scarcely a leaf on a stalk, it being so completely destroyed by the caterpillar.

The freedmen, usually, have worked well, especially where the old plantation system of working in gangs and under the immediate direction and management of white men who understand their nature and dispositions, has been adopted. On the other hand, where they have been under the supervision of inexperienced white men, or worked at their own discretion, the result is universal failure in all such cases.

Three bales of new cotton, from the plantation of Mr. A. Hopkins, were received yesterday and comparative ease, while a prosperous season next year will make them independent. We sincerely hope for this good result.—N. O. Republican.

Affairs in Spain.

Acting-Attorney General.

The affairs of Spain are still in a disturbed and The affairs of Spain are still in a disturbed and uncertain condition. The revolutionists are active in all parts of the kingdom, and deserters from the regular army are growing more numerous every day. A considerable body of royal troops had been defeated in the province of Arragon, a squadron of cavalry mot with a severe repulse on the 23d uit. near Alcantara, and a regiment of infantry suffered the same fate, when endeavoring to cavally a right of the catalonis. These are reports quell a rising in Catalonia. These are reports coming from the Liberalists, or those who oppose the government. On the contrary, the friends of the Government assert that the insurrecof the Government assert that the insurrection is daily becoming weaker and more insignificant. They declare that a large portion of the rebels in Catalonia have taken advantage of the proffered amnesty and surrendered. Those passing the frontier vall be prevented from returning until they have made their peace with the authorities. It is also reported from the same source that the bands in Arragon are reduced to four hundred men, and that they are moving toward the frontier of the kingdom, pursued by the royal the frontier of the kingdom, pursued by the royal troops. Madrid is reported tranquil, and the Government has dispatched large numbers of troops from that city to enforce the royal authority in all from that city to enforce the royal authority in an the disaffected districts.

Whether we look at the Liberal or Royal account of the condition of Spain, one thing is certain, the people are dissatisfied, and are exhibiting that fact in a most unmistakable manner. One insurrection, rebellion or revolution follows unother in rapid succession. The banner of revolt is no sooner pulled down in one section of the kingdom than it is elevated in another. General Prim and the confederates have organized secret societies turned from the European cruise—all well.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says: "On the subject of the effect of the amnesty, the Cabinet is said to be a unit." In the discussion of the Amnesty Proclamation, the Cabinet agreed that its legal effect would be to relieve excluded whites from disability, as to the exercise of the right of suffrage.

An Omaha dispatch says: "Sherman had advices from Fort Laramie stating that the hostilindians will not meet the Commissioners at the time specified. They expect a trap, and will send runners to hear what ithe Commissioners have to say, and if satisfied will then meet them."

"his is really distressing, nasmuch as our people will find them there to meet promptly themselves but poorly prepared to meet promptly themselves a better wild and no promptly themselves a better wild and no promptly themselves a better wild and no promptly and prepared to meet promptly themselves a better wild and no promptly and prepared to meet promptly themselves a better wild and prepared to meet promptly th Spanish fleet from the Pacific Ocean proves that the government is not satisfied with the aspect of affairs at home.

spanish fleet from the Pacine Cocan process the government is not satisfied with the aspect of affairs at home.

The Spanish people dislike the Bourbons as heartily as do the French. The latter plotted and labored, schemed and revolutionized until some of that family lost their heads, and all were banished from power and influence in France. This will be the history of Spain. There will be no peace or quie in that kingdom so long as a Bourbon is seated upon the throne. Napoleon hates the Bourbon family. He inherits that dislike from his great uncle, who despised the whole Bourbon race. Ail efforts made by the Spanish people to release themselves from the wicked and corrupt rule of the present reigning family will, therefore, be sure to meet the secret approval of the French Emperor. At present General Prim is on French soil, if not in the French capital, and yet he is not molested or disturbed by the French police. This is a strong point in favor of the Liberalists, and it will tell with powerful and crushing effect in case an open and concerted effort is made to dethrone the Queen, and place in her position a representative of the masses. This view of the danger surrounding the Bourbon family of Spain is what makes the affairs of that kingdom so full of interterest to the other European powers. They know that Napoleon is at the bc. tom of the Prim movement, and will push it forward to such a consummation as will make it impossible for a Bourbon to occupy the throne. Philadelphia Age.

What an Indian War will Cost. From the St. Louis Republican.

The Indian Commission, when at Omaha, embraced the opportunity to learn the views of certain military men as to the number of troops which tain military men as to the number of troops which would be necessary to wage a successful campaign against the Indians, either to subjugate or exterminate them. General Augur stated that he should neel 20,000 in his District, the same number would be necessary for General Hancock's District on the South, and the same for General Terry on the North, or 60,000 troops in all. He said that 45,000 of these should be cavalry, the remainder infantry. General Harney, member of the Indian Commission, was interrogated. His long experience in Indian warfare in Florida, in the Black Hawk war and on the Plains invested his opinions on the subject with much weight. He referred to the war against the Seminoles, which lasted six years, costing the Government over fifty millions of dollars, finally ending, not in the subjugation of the Seminoles, but in their being bought off. He referred to the courage, shrewdness and determination of the Indian warken pressed to an extremity and to their courage, shrewdness and determination of the In-lians when pressed to an extremity, and to their ability to make a long war. He estimated the dians when prossed to an extremity, and to their ability to make a long war. He estimated the number of troops necessary, in the event that war was inevitable, at 100,000, three-quarters of them to be cavalry. From these figures of these two Generals, we may form some estimate of the money the people must be made to pay for an Indian war. Gen. Augur puts the number down at 45,000 caval-Gen. Augur puts the number down at 45,000 cavalry and 15,000 infantry. The cost of maintaining cavalry on the Plains is $2000 per man, or $90,000,000 per annum for 45,000 cavalry. The cost of infantry is estimated at $1000 per man, or $15,000,000 for 15,000 infantry, or $105,000,000 per annum for 60,000 troops. If the war lasts five years, we have the handsome sum of $525,000,000 to provide. If we take Gen. Harney's estimate of 100,000 men, three-guarters cavalry, we have the sum of $175. If we take Gen. Harney's estimate of 100,000 men, three-quarters cavalry, we have the sum of $175,000,000 per annum to provide, or $875,000,000 for a five years' wat. In view of such a probable expenditure, adding so enormously to the burdens of a people already groaning under their burdens, it is well to pause and see it war can be avoided, and a peaceful condition of the Indians be secured. It has been said by intelligent persons, whose judgment and knowledge are entitled to respect, that the real course of the present troubles with the Indians is the bad faith of the Government itself, or its agents, through whom the Indians have suffered innumerable wrongs. It is asserted that the Indians can readily be placated by any reliable as-

DESCRIPTION OF THE SOUTH—The following accurate description of the condition of the South, and the feelings and circumstances of its people, was written by one Mr. William Shakspeare, some nundreds of years ago. Mr. S. was speaking of scotland, under the benign rule of the "Great Commoner" Macbeth, whose friends claim that he administered "the best government the worl's ever saw," but he evidently looked far into the fu-ture, and had the "so-called" in his prophetic mind's eye :

mind's eye:

'Alas, poor country!

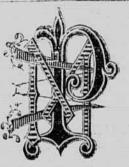

Aimost afraid to know itself! It cannot
Be called our mother, but our grave; where nothing,
But who knows nothing, is once seen to smile;
Where sighs, and groams, and shrieks that rent the air,
Are made, not marked; where violent sorrow seems
A modern ecstacy; the dead man's knell
Is there scarce ask'd, for who; and good men's lives
Expire before the flowers in their caps,
Dying, or ere they sicken."

The Richmond Dispatch of the 11th inst. states that Messrs Davenport & Co. sold yesterday in front of Messrs. Tardy & Co.'s, head of the dock, the entire cargo of the ship Bigelow, direct from Liverpool. The cargo consisted of 3500 sacks fine salt, 700 sacks of ground alum salt, 100 half chests gunpowder and black teas, 10 tierces quarts, and 75 casks pints of London porter. The entire cargo was disposed of at the following prices:

Fine salt, Marshall's brand, $3 07½ to 3 10; ground alum, 700 sacks, $2 15; porter in casks, $3 90 per dozen; ale in cases, $2 55; gunpowder teas, $1 62½ to 1 87½ per pound; black teas, 85 to 90 cents. The terms were thirty days. A large company was present, and the bidding spirited. The demand for salt is active.

This year the will reach two hundred and twenty-five milhons A fearful increase in the short space of six years In 1860 the government of this State cost four hundred and two thousand dollars. In 1866 it will take aix hundred and sixty-nine thousand dollars to foot all the expenses incurred by the Radi cal party.
